GUIDE TO THE RECORDS OF THE
UNITED NATIONS WAR CRIMES COMMISSION

LONDON, 1943 - 1948

Prepared in:
Archives Section
Communications and Records Division
27 August 1951.

INTRODUCTION

History and Functions of the War Crimes Commission

The United Nations War Crimes Commission was established on 20 October 1943, by a meeting of Allied and Dominion representatives convened for the purpose at the Foreign Office in London. The first official meeting was held on 11 January 1944, and the Commission continued its work actively until the end of March 1948.

The Commission, which was composed of representatives of its Member Governments, performed valuable functions in connection with the development of principles of international law and planning for international tribunals. Its primary task, however, was to collect, investigate and record evidence of war crimes, and to report to the governments concerned those instances where the material available appeared to disclose a prima facie case. In carrying out this function, the Commission was assisted by National Offices established by each of the constituent members. Formal charges against alleged or suspected war criminals were submitted to the Commission by the National Offices, along with the supporting data and a description of evidence available. It was the responsibility of the Commission to determine whether there appeared to be sufficient evidence to warrant the listing of the persons charged as war criminals in order that they might be detained and prosecuted by the member governments.

The War Crimes Commission took no part in the detention of persons listed or in the prosecution of the cases, and it should be noted that only a very small proportion of the persons listed as war criminals by the Commission have ever been prosecuted.

The Commission established three main committees:

Committee I, the Committee on Facts and Evidence. The responsibility of Committee I was to study the charges made by governments and to prepare the listings of war criminals.

Committee II, the Committee on Enforcement. The term "Enforcement" comprised all measures considered necessary to ensure the detection, apprehension, trial and punishment of persons guilty of or responsible for war crimes.

Committee III, the Legal Committee. Its function was to advise the Commission and the Governments on legal questions.

Other committees were the Far Eastern Committee, the Public Relations Committee, the Finance Committee, the Executive Committee, and the Legal Publications Committee.

A Research Office was established to do further investigation where necessary, to meet requests for information, and to arrange for the publications of the Commission.

On 10 October 1944, a Far Eastern and Pacific Sub-Commission was set up as a branch of the War Crimes Commission, with headquarters at Chungking. The Sub-Commission established two sub-committees, a Committee on Facts and Evidence and a Finance Committee.

To assist the National Offices, the Commission, in May 1945, called together and organized a Conference of the National Offices, which considered problems of coordinating the work of the National Offices and the War Crimes Commission.

The Records of the War Crimes Commission

The W. C. C. records in the UN Archives now consist of the minutes and documents of the Commission and its Committees, with indexes in some cases; Research Office documents (and reference material used by that Office); the Charge Files and related materials; the W. C. C. Periodical Lists of War Criminals, Suspects and Material Witnesses; similar lists submitted to the W. C. C. by outside authorities, and some of the correspondence of the W. C. C. Also included are transcripts (printed) of proceedings, exhibits and records of the International Military Tribunal, Nuremberg, of the International Military Tribunal for the Far East (Tokyo) and of various national military tribunals, which these tribunals submitted to the W. C. C. either for information or for reference and which were transferred to the UN Archives along with the W. C. C. records.

The W. C. C. destroyed a part of their records, mostly administrative files, which were considered to be of no continuing value. The documents held by the Research Office, which had been received from government departments in London were, in most cases, returned to the respective ministries. Records of the following bodies were not received by the UN Archives and their whereabouts is not known: Far Eastern Committee of the Main Commission, Public Relations Committee, Finance Committee, Executive Committee, Legal Publications Committee and the two sub-committees of the Far Eastern and Pacific Sub-Commission, viz, the Committee on Facts and Evidence and the Finance Committee.

Related Records

Related to the records of the War Crimes Commission are documents and transcripts of proceedings of twelve trials known as the "Subsequent Proceedings" held at Nuremberg from November 1946 to April 1949. The trials were held under international authority before courts constituted by the American Military Governor. These materials and also those relating to the International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg are in the UN Archives, (see UN Archives Reference Guide No. 7/Rev.1).

12. Index to the documents of the Research Office of the W. C. C.
13. Index to War Crimes News Digest of the W. C. C. Research Office.

Restrictions on the Records of the W. C. C.

1. Subject to the following restrictions and to normal administrative controls, all archives of the W. C. C. are available to any person who appears, to the satisfaction of the Chief of the Archives Section, to be engaged in bona fide research in the history of the Commission or in related problems in international law or associated fields.

2. The following records are not available for inspection and use except as specified in Rule 3 below:

a. Those parts of the minutes and documents of the Commission and its Committees and of the Research Office "Documents" that refer to specified individuals charged or suspected of war crimes.

b. The lists of war criminals, suspects and witnesses; related indexes, and the formal charges and related papers.

3. The restricted records described in Rule 2 above may be inspected and used only for official United Nations purposes, subject to the agreement of the United Nations Archivist.

It is understood that the United Nations has not inherited the functions of the W. C. C., and the Secretariat therefore cannot be called upon to reply to inquiries regarding persons charged or suspected of war crimes.
